

Prompt List – MZ Blog

Not sure what to write? Take a look at the prompt list and see if anything sparks your interest.

FICTION

- A piece of minimum 500 maximum 1500 words that has Millennials and/or GenZ as a central theme. We're mostly looking for non-fiction pieces, but if you've got a good fiction piece you feel is worthy, send it through.

NON-FICTION (Funny/Interesting)

- Shower Thoughts: Send us your hot takes, best lightbulb moment, or a niche topic you wanted to talk about (just keep it PG13)
- Why is everyone in Melbourne so into the coffee culture? What's wrong with coffee from 7/11?
- Why do some people enjoy high levels of difficulty in video games? For example, getting your teeth kicked in by Margit in Elden Ring.
- What is it like to participate in fan culture? Why do people do it?
- D&D and young people: how has Twitch changed the way people discover/experience D&D? Or, how is it creating safe spaces in person and online? Or, how has social media made it popular for this generation?
- Is there really tension between Gen-Z and Millennials? Or have I just been missing the drama?
- Why should young people care about the Oscars?

NON-FICTION (Serious)

- What are the challenges of intercultural dating?
- Internationals, is coming to Melbourne what you hoped for?
- The job market and opportunities are different from our parents' generation. Do they understand that? How do we explain?
- All wars have significant impacts. How is the current conflict in Ukraine impacting those in Australia?
- Amid pandemics, floods, and war, how do young people reconcile with their new reality?
- Borders are open. Is this good, bad, scary, or just inevitable?
