

The Publishing Blog

Interested in the publishing industry? This blog is for tips, tricks, queries and concerns, debates and everything publishing.

If you are passionate about a topic in the publishing industry then we would love to hear about it. We also have a prompt list below for those who want to write and need some inspiration. You can also contact us with a pitch idea or with any other questions at website@grattanstreetpress.com.

You can submit anything from 500 to 1500 words.
I'm excited to see your ideas!

Love,
Your Publishing Blog Editor,
Nicola

Publishing Prompt List

- How does social media affect what we read?
- Interview a professional in the industry.
- Your experience in the industry.
- Your favourite small publisher: what do they do well?
- What are your controversial book loves and why?
- Sexualising real people in fan fiction - where is the line?
- Thoughts on book bans
- Using AI to write books.
- Thoughts on TikTok inspired imprint?
- Tropes and trends: what do we love? What don't we love? What's new on the scene?
- Diversity in Publishing.
- Publishing formats: what's on the rise and what's dying?
- Issues in academic publishing.
- What's happening in the web comic and graphic novel scene?

I hope this has provided some inspiration. There are many other topics we would love to hear about so don't feel you have to be confined to this list.